

www.szdm.mk; szdm.mk@gmail.com

Nfermierët - meritojnë një rol dhe mundësi më të njohur për zhvillim në kujdesin për diabetin

The (diabetological) nurses deserve a more renown role and a chance for development in the diabetic care.

November 14th - The IDF's International Diabetes Day is focused on the diabetological nurses e.g. the nurses in the diabetes centres (clinics). In the Republic of North Macedonia, the Union of Diabetics'

An association is a common umbrella organization that advocates for the rights, interests, problems, and responsibilities of around 125.000 people with diabetes, of which around 44.000 take insulin. UDANM is a union of 25 associations in 23 municipalities and the city of Skopje, liberately and independently organized in the Republic of North Macedonia, and will focus on acts and activities for the ascent ion of the role for one of the most important links for every one of us that has diabetes. As a union of civil organizations , UDANM, which mission is bettering the life quality of the people with diabetes by committing for better quality health service for them, education of their families and raising civil awareness for the diabetes, in collaboration with all the strategic partners and the competent authorities in Macedonia.

UDANM is working diligently for fulfilling its strategic goals to raise the civil awareness for the diabetes and upgrading the education, motivation for, and prevention from diabetes; Why do the nurses make the difference for the diabetics? The more the number of peoole with diabetes increases, the role of the nurses and other healthcare workers becomes more and more important in managing the high impact on the condition. Nurses are an important link and play a key role in the medical team. They provide a self-management and mental support, with a target to prevent any additional complications. To overcome the diabetes type 2 risk factors, to prevent the condition. There remains a special need for more education and funding for recruiting nurses in the country, to skillfully provide the support people with diabetes and those who have a risk to get diabetes type 2, from the people with diabetes.

www.szdm.mk; szdm.mk@gmail.com

UDANM calls on the Government of the Republic of North Macedonia, to recognise itself and upgrade the role of nurses for diabetic care, to be dedicated to paying attention and enabling action in the following areas: securing quality education for the people with diabetes, including enough training for diagnosing and care for diabetes, investing in the specialty for diabetic care, to priorities and upgrade the education for diabetes, throughout the nurse's development and their professionalization. Increase in increasing the venture of the nurses in enabling prevention and primary care for the people with diabetes. Including the nurses who care for diabetes in society. Therefore, all 25 of the associations in their own local environments will organize events, accordingly with the COVID-19 protocols, on which the role of the nurses will be emphasized.

UDANM plans an event for those active on their jobs, as well as the ones that once have taken care of the people with diabetes, on which we will share experiences and have a debate for their recommendations they have given to us, the patients.

President of UDANM, Dimce Velev.